

Mary Fink joined Trinity Christian Academy in 2018. Growing up in the Midwest, Mary spent a year taking engineering courses at the University of Nebraska, but realized teaching was her true calling and has never looked back. As she grew in her knowledge and understanding of Classical Christian education, it became her passion. Alongside homeschooling her own children, she has taught 7-11 grade using the Classical method of education. Her mission continues to be instilling a love of learning in her students, providing them with the tools for self-learning, and leading them to search for the truth, beauty and goodness in God's world. She is devoted to partnering with parents to nurture their children in this time-tested, effective model. She has 2 sons, one married and living overseas, and one about to graduate from high school. She has been married to her husband, Matt for over 30 years.
